INTRODUCTION

School Climate Surveys of parents, students, and staff have been regularly administered in the Miami-Dade County Public School district since the early 1990s. The purpose of these surveys is to gather information regarding the perceptions of these groups about school and how the school can be improved. Results from several of the most recent years' surveys are available by school on the following website: <http://drs.dadeschools.net>.

In addition to providing information to the public, survey results are intended to assist schools in the identification of priorities for their plans to improve their schools and to better serve their stakeholders mainly students, parents, and staff.

Methodology

Large stratified random samples of parents, and students were selected to participate in the annual School Climate Surveys.

All instructional staff at all schools were selected to participate in the School Climate Surveys.

In 2014-15, school climate surveys were distributed to representative samples of approximately:

- 98,000 parents
- 58,000 students, and
- 20,000 staff members (instructional staff at each school)

The parent survey was developed in three languages: English, Spanish, and Creole.

The staff surveys were administered online through anonymous unique user-id and password. The online survey is managed by a vendor outside M-DCPS to give further assurance to the staff that their responses are completely anonymous.

Validity

The parent and student samples have been representative of the entire M-DCPS parent and student populations with regards to demographic variables, such as ethnicity and grade level. This is mainly due to following facts:

- Large populations to select from (Over 350,000 students);
- Random selections; and

- Large samples (93,000 parents, and 55,000 students)

All instructional staff at all schools were included in the survey.

The return rates (an important factor for the validity and representativeness of the responses) were high for all three stakeholders:

- 44,511 out of 97,775 parents responded (Return rate: 45.5%)
- 43,812 out of 57,511 students responded (Return rate: 76.2%)
- 14,227 out of 19,275 staff responded (Return rate: 74.0%)

What do the Climate Surveys measure?

The opinions offered in the climate surveys represent anonymous and self-reported perceptions on the part of the stakeholders and may not precisely describe the actual situation at every school.

However, these opinions represent a reality to the respondents and should afford insight into the impression a school is making on the local community.

Results by school is especially important given the fact that there is a considerable variability among the M-DCPS schools with regard to demographic indicators, such as socio-economics, ethnicity, and geographic location.

Overall Summary Results

Forty five percent of the parents who were surveyed in 2015 responded. Student returns was about 76 percent. The staff response rate was about 74 percent. Detailed school-level results were provided to the schools online. The primary purpose of these reports was to facilitate an in-depth view of the learning climate at each school. The present report represents a byproduct of those by-school reports and summarizes district wide results.

All groups were generally positive in their responses, as they have been in previous years, expressing general agreement with the survey questions. On average, parents and staff have a high percent of agreement with the questions expressing a high degree of satisfaction with their schools.

SCHOOL CLIMATE SURVEYS 2014-2015 Individual School Results

Each year, M-DCPS conducts the School Climate Surveys involving parents, students, and staff. The purpose of these surveys is to gather information regarding what these groups think about the schools and their perceptions concerning how the schools can be improved.

Below are the results of the School Climate Surveys for 2014-2015. The results are sorted by school number within each of the following ten (10) drop-down menus. Typically, each individual school report contains four pages: a Demographic page and a summary page for each of the three (3) responding groups: parents, students, and staff.

Each survey summary page includes the results for that particular school as well as the results for all schools at the same organizational level or focus (i.e., Elementary, K-8 centers, Middle, Senior High, Vocational/Adult Education, and/or alternative/special centers).

Please note that some schools may not have data reported for a particular responding group, for reasons such as: a) the survey was not administered because it was not appropriate for the population (e.g., students in grades 3 and below did not complete the surveys), or b) simply the school did not participate in all surveys.

NOTE: The opinions offered in the surveys represent anonymous and self-reported perceptions on the part of parents, students, and staff and may not precisely reflect the actual situation at a school. However, these opinions represent a reality to the respondents and should afford insight into the impression a school is making on the local community. If you have any further questions about the survey, please contact ARDA at ☎ (305) 995-7091.
